Spanish language Eco-Justice site for Faith-Based Communities

Check out this eco-justice website in Spanish at www.eco-justicia.org. This is a webpage with resources and a blog that is updated regularly. The host is Neddy Astudillo, an ordained Presbyterian clergy person and long time advocate of ecological justice in the church. This site is a sister site of the Web of Creation as we had some small part in encouraging Neddy’s project to set up a site in Spanish. Neddy signs off on her e-mails with this quote from John Wesley: “Do all the good you can, by all the means you can, in all the ways you can, in all the places you can, at all the times you can, to all the people you can, as long as ever you can.”
